Yes. It's a slightly edited sit-rep. I think the question now is whether that page will work as they get sampling data back, information on impacts to the rivers and on drinking water. They expect to have some data back as early as tonight. I haven't heard back from Region 8 on whether they still want help, but will let you know as soon as I do.- George

OPS, Region 8, Region 9, Robert and I had a conference call this evening to discuss communications around the Colorado mine spill. Part of the discussion was about the use of the OSC.org site to give information to the public and press, which Region 8 has been doing. To get away from using OSC.org, Region 8 is now going to try to create a web page on their website. Paula Smith expressed concern about their ability to get the webpage up over the weekend. Is there any assistance we can offer if they need it this weekend? - George
